Managua, Nicaragua, March 31.—The peace commission, consisting of Dr. Prudente Alfado, vice president of Salvador; General Comans of Salvador and Senor Ramirez, the Nicaraguan minister for fereign affairs, has returned here from Lapaz, where a conference with the representatives of the insurgent Leonists has been held. The terms offored by President Zelaya are understood to have been the absolute surrender of all arms, the payment of all war expenses and the surrender fer trial by constmutual of the leaders of the in-

The insurgents not only refused to accept these terms, but they demanded that President Zelaya turn over to them the government of Nicaragua. Conse-quently all hope of peace is gone and the war will be continued with renewed bitterness on both sides. There is great excitement here and steps are being taken to remove the troops at the front and beging the advance on Leon so soon as the much needed supplies of ammuintion reach the government forces.

. There are disturbing ramors in the tair. The New Mt. Past Huddlag to He on A Morable Foundation To He Tuenty-sla Stories High How the Wondertal Feat Will Le Accomplished.

A 26 stay divergeer effice build leg is being built in New York and movible foundance.

This building will weigh about $0.-600,000 peanls, and ene man will be able to life it with tho aid of a very and the inventor

These statements seem arsuri, but they are true. The building is now being put up on the c ruer of Broadway and Aug street, on the site of the old Herald building, and the architects of the building will tell you that these astomshing facts are truc-

No architect ever attempted to construct a bailding this way before, although a semewhat similar device was nsed on the focudations of the fumous Enfel tower in Paris with entere suc-

The St. Paul building, which is to tower above every other skyscraper the the city, is to rest upon judiscrews, which are to be operated by Lydraulic power directed by a single hand. The feat performed by Samson on one memorable occasion will be outdone. Even Atlas in his act of balancing the world upon his head will have to look to his laurels, for this structure, with its ponmintion of several thousands, will actually be balanced and raised or lowered

The importance of this undertaking may be appreciated from the fact that the building will rise 307 feet above the Broadway level and will contain 25 full stories and an additional roof structure equivalent to another. The foundations, however, are not carried down as deeply as those of several of the buildings erected during the last few years. Instead of being founded on solid reck, they will rest on concrete beds and rolled iron beams planted in the wer sand.

Baildings on such foundations settle, but never evenly. The proposed arrangement will affect that tendency and keep the structure perfectly level.

It is this fact which has prompted the introduction of this system of hydraulic jacks, by means of which an average man will be able to excel every fent of strength yet performed or imag-

Forty-seven steel uprights, placed at regular intervals over an area of 6,500 square feet, support the entire weight of the St. Paul building. It is under those uprights that the mechanism is being introduced which will alter the level of the building at any time daring its construction, or even after the whole of its material has been placed in position.

The person who is fortunate enough to eatch a glimpse of the feaudations of the St. Paul building as they at present stand will notice at the fact of each of these columns a support consisting of rolled steel sections united at an augle. Between this conical support and the base of each column are interted half a dozen steel plates. It is the removal or insertion of these places which will alter too beight of the building, either

The acroal work of raising the building will be done by hydramlic jacks. When one is familiar with the part played by Colonel Quay in this terrible engagement, wonder at the great influence he exercises over men ceases. The men who could ride through each terribla carnage, who could see men falling heads will make them roar as gently as would have prompted him to suggest about him by thousands and yet amid it all bear himself with perfect equamunity and heroic valor, was undoubtedly born to be a leader of men. The fact, then, that he could enter upon such a fearful drama with $10,000 of his comrades' money in the havetsack which was fastened across the shoulders shows, too, that he is not a man to fear responsibilities. This money was all faithfully distributed by him when he left the service after the buttle, and its distribution was doubtless attended with many a dolorous scene. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Much Interest Shown In the Balloon Expedition to the Pole.

There is much greater interest felt in Norway and Sweden just now over M. Andrea's balloon expedition to tha north pole than in the vague reports about Dr. Nansen. The exploring balloon is already more than half completed, and it will be finished in another mouth. The severest tests are being applied to the texture and seams of the great bag as it is put together.

The cloth is said to be much stronger than was contracted for, and the seams are still stronger than the cloth. Thoughts on Suring.

Some thoughts on spring are not fit for publication.

Spring is the season when poets and livers get out of order.

If you have flannels to shed, prepare to shed them in July. The well known poetical reference to spring as an "ethereal mildness" was promulgated long before the introduction of the weather bureau. Spring poets are the great propagators of pulmonary complaints.

Spring, ghastly spring! Even a spring chicken is a delusion and a spare. If the robin is really a sign of spring, he ought to be ashaused of himself. In these latter days blizzards are the only genuine "harbingers of spring." That "tired feeling" incidental to spring is greatly aggravated by reading spring poetry in one column of a newspaper and the weather report in another. In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of cough mix-

Where Am I At

Several years ago a nervous and illiterate congressman made a bad break in grammer with speaking in Washington. The papers united the mistake as a funny incident and with one accord painted it in their headlines. The readets took up the catchword, for such it oon became, and bandled it about from my to city, and other papers cularged ujan it.

It became slang, and much employed slang at that. Inside of a month at least 60,000,000 men and women in the Union were asking five times a day on an average, "Where am I at"

The funny men got hold of it and ran it to earth, or rather into the ground. It caused laughs, then smales, then sickly grans, and amaily only a gentle rapple of a faded langh, and at last not even a movement of the tank ving muscles of the human face. Still the "at" tild business at the old stand and canulit new ensurers. People got so acenstended to saving it in fun that some of them forget to step when they talked in cornest, and many a well educated man has found himself usking some question of the kind and putting the "at," that irrepressible little word, in where it never belonged. Today it is no longer a Joke, but it is safe to say that two-thirds or the populati , of the nation use it nneonsciously where not one-third did

And, to cap the chmax, I heard it used not two months ago, in all serionsness and perfect good fatth, without a suggestion of a smile, at a meeting of the Cincinnati board of education .-Cincinnati Tritone.

The Report Burglar.

A Pace in Her Thick.

The most remarkable brunin monstrosity that ever saw the light of Cay upon the American centment is little Estenisho Arichi, a 7-year-old Mexican girl, who resides with her fester parents near the little village of Morelia, in the state of Agnascallentas. The first that was known of the existence of this rarest of all human Leings was when a Mexican paper made the following brief statement:

"With n the last few days there has te a breaght from Charo to Morelia a hade girl who has a second face on the right hip between the hip joint and the Luce. It you compress the cheeks of this querry structed face, it opens its eyes. The face has a mouth containing three yearly reeth, but the nose is entirely wanting."

Six menths after the publication of the alaye a physician of Morelia speceeded in gathering, the following facts relative to this queer case:

When she had been in the world about two years, an inflammatica of the whole region of the right thigh set in, which finally developed into an enormous inmore us cyst. Then by degrees there appeared an eye, an eyebrew, one nostrii of the nose, curly lashes and finally the other brow. Next appeared one row of four teeth, and then the "bangs" began to grow rapidly and fringe the forehead. Taken all in all, it is one of the most singular freaks in the human family that have been reported during this century. The facak has been described in the papers of both Vera Cruz and Mexico City, the accounts creating considerable comment among the medical fraternity of both places, -St. Louis Republican.

Next to the king of the Canmbal i-lands, who may at any time be served up as a regent or in the shape of a breel er a roast, the Kereau potentate occupie on enviable position. Since the has an absorbely east from nerve, and passa-smore of the queen he is in daily to worf has life. He is afraid to cat anything wiless it has been specially prepared by the wife of the American missionary dector, Mrs. Underwood. His loving subjects might drop something into his soup, so his meals are sent to the cry would be heard in the streets: "The king is dead! Long live the king!" What a charming life to lead! What a har ov man that king must bealmost as happy as the New York tramp, also can amenly freeze to death because they won't let him sleep in thu station beuge. - New York Herald.

Perdous Times in Germany. According to a correspondent in Berlin. English residents in Germany have tound it specially necessary of late to be guarded in their remarks about political events when in public places. He states that, to his knowledge, one Englishman was haled off to the police court for an alaged indiscreet reference to the emperor, attered while about to sit down to dinner, and had to pay a fine of 10 marks by way of hors d'onvre. A story, which is, no doubt, ben trovato, was then being told in the English clubs. An Englishman was taxed by a German police officer with publicly using an unentrar Mississippi visited New Orleans at the last Maidi Gras for the first time, examplimentary epithet with regard to the was delighted with the city, but the emperor, "You are quite mistaken, was considerably shocked at the "decolwas talking of the emperor of Chuna!" CATHODE RAYS

Believed to Have Been Used by the Chinese in the Dim Past.

BUTTE, Mon., March 31.-John Maguire, manager of Magnire's Opera House and an antiquarian of considerable note, has unearthed what he believes to be the fact that the Cathode or N rays were known to the Chinese many centuries ago. He found in the London Philosophical Journal of 1872 an account of a peculiar Chinese mirror which had the power to reflect upon a screen by the and of the sun's rays objects on the back of the mirror, the mirror being made of Chinese silver, a combination of tin and copper. The Journal stated that there were but a few of the mirrors then in existence, and that they were evidently the remains of a lest art.

Golden Nuggets.

Under the above head a Breckenridge, Summit county, Colorado, pa-

Years ago this camp was frequently spoken of as a "specimen camp" and it was freely asserted that for fine tich specimens Breckenridge was at the head of the column. Several vears of surface scratching mining, resulting in occasional small strikes, finally led on to the finding of gold lead silver veins and golden nuggets Of the latter we desire to say a word. Since the beginning of 1885 there has been a pretty steady supply of pure gold nuggets taken from Farncomb hill. At some seasons the output has been remarkably prolific and of ex. Cobb, E M caeding great value, the nuggets Collins, I J ranging from a half an ounce to fourteen pounds in weight. These spect. Dacker, John mens of Farncomb hill gold are Delora, James scattered all over the world. At one Dutcher, John time the late Col. A. J. Ware had a Everett, O W cabinet containing several thousand specimens ranging from the lightest Gompf. Webster and tiniest leaf to the solid chunk of pure native gold weighing fourteen Humphrey, J H p unds. Dealers in specimen nuggets in this town have sold hundreds of pounds of these nurgets and at no Jordon, O W time has the supply entirely ceased. although it has varied considerably.

To-day can be seen a few score at Briggle's stationery store ranging from one to five ounces each, while at Klinefelters jewelry store a large number of choice ones cleaned up to the queen's taste can be seen for the asking. Quite a large number are in the hands of private parties and although thousands of dollars worth are sold annually there still remains an ample home supply."

The Farocomb Hill rises to the height of 1000 feet above the gulches at its peak on either side. It is now being opened by tunuels and drifts into the sides of this mountain, and by a great shaft from the upper surface downward to cet and work out these gold bearing veins, the depth o' many hundred feet. This great great work is to be conducted and carried out by The Arraria Gold Mining company of Denyer, Colorado, which owns the central portion of 🚳 this rich Farncomb Hill.

Many citizens of Lima and vicinity are purchasing stock in this company to secure shares of the future output of gold which will come from these

This stock is now selling at a very low price to promptly supply the means for purchasing mochinery and carrying on the work of sinking to great depth into these rock-bound golden veins and bringing forth the treasure which they hold, for the benefit of all shareholders of this company. Samples of the rare forms of gold produced by these mines can be seen at Basinger & Co's jewelry store, No. 149 north Main street, Lima, where also illustrated pamphlets will be given free to all who wish them.

throughout the country will be greatly pleased with a measure soon to be reparted by the house committee on reforms in the civil service. It looks to the creation of a great civil pension system. This committee has lately been giving consideration to the question of providing a retired list for superanguated emplevees and has about agreed upon a incusura which, it is believed, will overcome the principal adjections which have heretofore been raised against this form of relief for government employees. A few minor details are yet to be perfected, but all the general features have been agreed noun.

The general scheme contemplates the creation of a fund to be deducted from the salaries of the clerks, from which cavments will be made to civil service employers who become unfit for further service. Recognizing the objection to a retired list which will mean a drain upon the United States treasury, the committee has endeavored to so formulate a measure as to make it evident that there will be no additional expense upon the federal government. It is estimated that an assessment of 8 per cent on the total salaries received by each employee will create a fund sufficiently large to meet all the demands that may be made upon it by retirements under the proposed law.

As an experiment it was first proposed to confine the proposed law to employees in the government departments ar Washington, but the civil service commission took hold of the matter, and as a result it is now deemed practicable by the committee to apply it to the entire civil service throughout the conntry. Disbursing clerks will be required to deduct from the salary of each employee 3 per cent of the amount that may be due to him each mouth. > BOYS' X RAYS SOCIETY. Novel Organization in Ennsas With Good Aspirations.

A new secret society, with all the grips, signals and signs, intended to save the boys of America, has been organized in Lincoln county, Kan., and is to be extended into every nook and corner of the country.

Balph Brunt is the originator, and the name is "X Rays Developing Society." Boys between the ages of 12 and 19 only are eligible to membership.

The primary object is temperance, and the second one is to train the boys to speak in public without emburrassment, to the end that a new generation of erators may be ready to go upon the stage of action. A member is expelled if he stays our nights later than 10 o'clock.

The Bullington Booth Movement. If the right side of a controversy is husband and wife, are clearly entitled to the sympathy and encouragement of the American people. They have not have, to a degree greater than was to be expected, kept their mouths shut.

The fact that without a murmur or a word Ballington Booth furned over to the representatives of the British Salvation Army all the property, amounting to $1,000,000, that had been accumulated in this country and that stood in his name, shows him to be just, generous and wholly unmercenary. The money of William E. Dodge and of those wealthy American citizens who were, unknown to the rest of the world, modestly and quietly backing the Salvation leaders will now be transferred to Ballington Booth's new Army.

The new Army has the whole sympathy of the American people. We want un American Army, with leaders bemeeting in Cooper Union, New York, where the new movement was inaugurated, many of the corps who had deserted the old organization signified their allegiance to the new one by wearing tiny American flags. It was well. Why should not their badge be a device bearing the American flag intertwined with the white flug, signifying peace and purity and patriotism?

Ballington and Mrs. Booth do well to make their new movement one among the middle classes in this country. There is no class among whom spiritual faith has grown more cold.

New York as a Literary Mart.

Edward W. Bok, in The Ladies' Home Journal, writes of "The American Literary Center," and presents the claims of Now York and Boston (between which cities it may be inferred he believes it rests) for the distinction. He summarizes New York in this way: "New York undoubtedly offers the largest market for literature of any city in America. This is naturally so, as must always follow in the case of the largest and wealthiest city of any country. The Empire City controls the largest number of publishing houses, even though it cannot claim all the principal ones. It has a larger number of magazines and periodicals of all kinds than any other city, even though it is deprived the right to the first and foremost of all American literary periodicals, the leading eclectic magazine of the world or of the most widely circulated channels of serial liverature. But, unquestionably, it has the majerity, and a powerful majority it is: It has libraries galore, one might allings are talking about a new atlment most say, yet the two principal libraries | that they allege is the result of doing of the country are in other cities. HER REVENGE.

How a Newspaper Woman Tried to GR hiven With Secretary Morton's Sister. Sometimes the clever women who write up the society news for the Washingten and out of town papers permit their personal piques and dislikes to get the better of their judgment. If wemen in journalism have any fault it is intensity and a prenentss to wreak their frivate revenges in print.

An amusing story illustrative of this tendency is told in society circles. Miss Morton, the sister of Secretary Morton and the mistress of his household, purposely gowns herself very plainly. It is Is SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR-don't a matter of taste with her, and she is forget to take it. The Liver gets sluggish hold enough to have her own way in such matters at all times.

> ing whatever worth writing about." Highly indignant, the young woman who was "doing" society went away. She did not think she had been rightly treated, and, womanlike, she intended to set even.

Soon the New Year's reception at the White House came on, and the account in a local paper described the gowns of the ladies of the cabinet, excepting Miss Morton's, and then added, "The sister of the secretary of agriculture were her last year's black dress." This was not pleasant, but no one said a word.

At the monster has made a beginning. Rev. Dr. Tennis S. Hamlin, Mr. Gardiner G. Hubbard and Mr. Myren M. Parker, representing the association, were given a hearing the other morning by the sandry civil subcommittee of the house appropria tion committee to enable them to prefer a request for an item in the appropriation bill to purchase the house on Tenth street where Lincoln died. In their pe tition they say:

"It is the only building at the capital distinctly associated with him. wish to restore it to the condition in which it then was, both externally and internally, and to make it a perpetual shrine of patriotic pilgrimage for the millions that venerate his memory. As sten in this direction we have leased the house in order to secure it from demolition, and have placed in it a very valuable collection of relies and mentantes from the Lincoln homestead at Springfield, Ills. These and any other precious relies of the great president now procurable should be the property of the nation and should be sacredly cherished as the national capital."

HORSELESS MAIL WAGONS.

They Will Shortly Be Running Through the Streets of Boston.

Very shortly there will be running through the streets of Boston handsome horseless mail wagons for the collection and distribution of mail matter. These horseless wagons will be propelled either by electricity or naphtha. There will be the same long, narrow mail vehicles which are now used as postal ears on the street railways in many cities.

General Neilson of Washington has been working on the plans for some time, and is backed in his new undertaking by several well known capital ists. The wagons will not exceed 12 feet in length nor 6 feet in width. The interior will be arranged like the inside of any mail car. There will also be strong holds for holding the registered and oth er valuable mail. The motormen will have a lever to turn off or on the power and a footbrake.

It is expected that more mail can be delivered and collected by this new device than by the old way. There will be only two wagons for the present.
